

Being Nice

...by Sam Avitto

How often are you nice to people? I decided to be nice in a different kind of way, I apologized to the girl I punched, and I made a card for my teacher.

My first random act of kindness was that I apologized to the girl I punched. In January, me and her got into this miscommunication with some other girls. I see her in the hallways all the time and I always feel like I should say sorry to her. I usually get too scared to say anything, the other day I finally decided to say sorry to her. She forgave me, and we each said sorry for everything that happened, but the court said that I'm not allowed to talk to her anymore.

The second random act of kindness I did was that I made a card for my teacher. I always mess around in PE and I don't do anything. Mr. Flores called my dad and told him that I don't do anything. Ym dad said I should write him an apology letter, and I was like "no." Then I felt bad, and we were supposed to write a letter to a teacher, so I decided to write it to him and apologize. He hasn't really been in class since so I don't know what he thinks about it.

I wanted to be nice in a different way, I said sorry to the girl I got in a fight with, and I gave a card to my teacher. I'm glad I was nice to people.